Course Objectives

This course provides an introduction to fluid mechanics. It stresses fundamental engineering science principles applied to fluid mechanical systems. Students will learn the governing integral and differential equations for viscous and inviscid fluids and will apply these equations to internal and external flows. Upon completion of this course, students are expected to have developed a working understanding of the basic theory of incompressible and compressible fluid mechanics. Students will learn problem-solving techniques and have the opportunity to apply these techniques to a variety of problems.

Attendance Policy, Class Expectations, and Make-Up Policy

Attendance is mandatory. Excused absences will be given for documented medical reasons, UF related travel or job interview travel. You should notify the instructor about such an absence as early as possible, not after the class. Documentation must be in the form of a doctor’s note, or letter from the sponsor of the travel. During class, cell phones must be turned off or muted. Don’t bring food to class.

It is expected that this course will require at least 12 hours of effort per week when you consider time spent for lectures, reading assignments, homework, and re-writing of your class notes. I strongly recommend that you implement the “Five Times Strategy” for learning in this class. This requires that you cover the course material at least 5 times before exams. The first time that you cover the material is when you perform your reading assignment before class. The second time that you cover the material is during lecture. The third time that you cover the material is when you re-write your “lecture set” of notes that includes material from lecture and the reading assignments, including all derivations and your additions. The fourth time that you cover the material is when you do your homework assignments. Finally, the fifth time that you cover the material is when you study for your exams. This technique will help you master the material and also will provide you with a comprehensive set of notes to potentially teach from one day. Please note that if you do not do well on the first exam, I will ask if you followed my recommendation regarding the “Five Times Strategy”.

The course will be taught from the board using my typeset notes, which will be posted on the website. These notes are meant to accompany the assigned readings from the text and reference books. They are not to be considered substitutes. You will be responsible for both the material covered in class and the assigned readings.

Re-grading Policy: Any re-grade requests must be submitted in writing within one week after return of the graded paper. The written request must explain in detail what you want the grader to do and where you believe they have made a mistake in grading. The request must have a date on the top of the page, your name, and e-mail address.

Miscellaneous Policies: Students will be held responsible for knowledge of all scheduling and policy announcements made in class. If you send an email please do this via Canvas. Please use the discussion feature of Canvas as much as possible.

Make-up Exam/HW Policy: There are no make-up exams and there are no make up HWs. If you have a valid excused absence, I will not hold the missed exam or HW against you. I will just grade you based on the other exams and/or HWs.

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies. Click here to read the university attendance policies:

Students Requiring Accommodations

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the disability Resource Center by visiting <https://disability.ufl.edu/students/get-started/>. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

In-Class Recording

Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor.

A “class lecture” is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session.

Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code (<https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/process/student-conduct-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.
