Course Description

Experiments on dynamic systems in mechanical and aerospace engineering and design of relevant control systems.

Credits: 3

Course Pre-Requisites / Co-Requisites

EML 3301C, EML 4312

Course Objectives

This course provides a control system design experience. Students will learn how to apply control system theory and engineering laboratory fundamentals to model and characterize dynamic systems and synthesize single-input/single-output and multiple-input/multiple-output control systems using classical and state-space control methods. During the course, students will design and implement control systems for several mechanical systems. Upon completion of this course, students are expected to understand basic control system design theory, coupled with a strong foundation and appreciation for utilization of experimental techniques in characterizing and controlling mechanical systems. In addition, they will also develop/improve their communication skills to relay their ideas verbally (through group and TA interactions) and in written form (on lab reports).

Required Textbooks and Software

- No texts are required for the course – reference material will be provided on the course web site on Canvas
- We will use MATLAB and LabVIEW extensively. You can access MATLAB through UF Apps, and we will provide a LabVIEW license key to you that is paid for through the course lab fee.

Recommended Materials

- There are many good control system books. For example, the books by Dorf and Bishop, by Ogata, or by Nise (any editions) are great references. Indeed, the book published by former UF MAE Professor Prabir Barooah was created in support of our EML4312/EML4314c course sequence. Brian Douglas’ controls series on YouTube is highly recommended.

Attendance Policy, Class Expectations, and Make-Up Policy

- Lectures will be delivered in person. Students are expected to attend lecture. There will be Canvas quizzes that will cover lecture material, and these will count towards the HW/Quiz component of the course grade. Lecture notes will be posted on Canvas.
- Lab sections will be implemented in person / as TA office hours, as posted on Canvas. Attendance is not restricted but preference/priority will be given to students registered in that lab section.

Late Report Policy

- If you do not submit your lab report assignment when it is due, you can still submit it via Canvas for two more days. Unless you have prior written (email is fine) permission to submit a late assignment, the penalties for late submission will be as follows:
 - Late submissions within one hour of the deadline: 3% of your earned grade.
 - Late submissions past one hour but within 24 hours of the deadline: 15% of your earned grade.
 - Late submissions past 24 hours but within 48 hours of the deadline: 50% of your earned grade.
 - Past 48 hours, your assignment will not be graded.
- There will be NO scheduled make-up laboratories. It is the student’s responsibility to honor and respect the given deadlines and meeting times. If you have a scheduled professional activity (e.g., a conference) which conflicts with an important course date, please communicate with the instructor as early in the semester as possible to schedule some accommodation.

Excused absences

- Excused absences must be consistent with university policies in the undergraduate catalog (<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>) and require appropriate documentation.

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies. Click here to read the university attendance policies:

Students Requiring Accommodations

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the disability Resource Center by visiting <https://disability.ufl.edu/students/get-started/>. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.ua.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluer.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.ua.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

In-Class Recording

Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor.

A “class lecture” is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session.

Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Conduct Code (<https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/process/student-conduct-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.
